A Christian's Work.

Limitation of Man

1. The earth in ancient days and now.
2. In the field of knowledge.
 - a. In dept of science - a single beg.
 - b. In literature - one book & not a volume one author
 - c. In art - master in but one dept. and of but one thing.
3. In the spiritual realm.
 - a. The Inscription upon the Cross
 - b. The four Gospel writers.
 - c. St. Paul - philosopher & logician
St. John - the poet & seer
St. Jas. - the practical man.

- d - The Latin stories of the goddess & apples.
- e. Our Text - Mark. 10: 17-23.

Rich man doing everything in general but unwilling to do the one specific thing.

Motives which prompt a man to do.

1. Fear; the initial motive for protection.
2. Self-interest, ambition to excel.
3. From fear & self-interest to conscience & duty.
4. Law - keeps the world in place.
keeps man in his place.
5. Fear & law give way to love

"Love casts out all fear and fulfils the law"

d. The judge is not the same person to everybody.

e. Now is God the same to everybody.

f. "Calvin and Edwards make me fear and tremble; Bishop Butler makes me to be amazed; Liddon and Beecher make me believe; but Jesus Christ makes me hope and love."

4. The Christian's equipment for work.
a. He has the power of prayer,
the power of the Word of God,
the power of the Holy Spirit.
b. He has the Love of Christ - the highest of all motives. Christ the perfect example.

5. Why the average Christian accomplishes so little.
He fails to use the power
at his command.
1. By not having a (Christian) single aim in his Christian life.

The game of ten pins. 5.

2. By not doing a definite and specific work for the Master.

4. Gen. Booth, "One pot of hot gruel, two petticoats, and a wool blanket are worth more ~~to~~ than a lake of tears."

b. Mother and temperance.

c. My personal experience ^{birth, Jesus, ministry, for souls!}

3. It matters not what position we may hold, Christ says "One thing thou lackest, go thy way, sell whatsoever thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come, take up the cross and follow me."

Phil. 3:13-14

Paul. Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended;
but this one thing I do, forgetting
those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus.
